

This book belongs to:

Uncle Uri is happy to have his umbrella back on the ground.

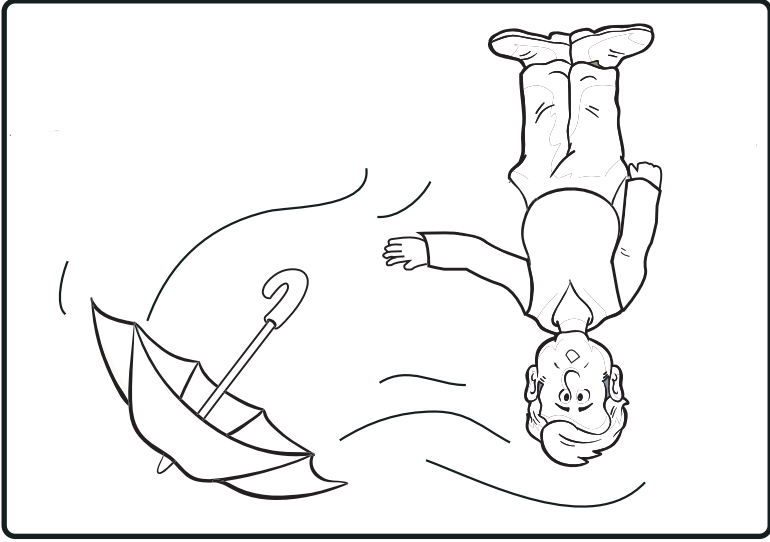

“Uh-oh,” said Uncle Uri. “It is raining. I need my umbrella.”

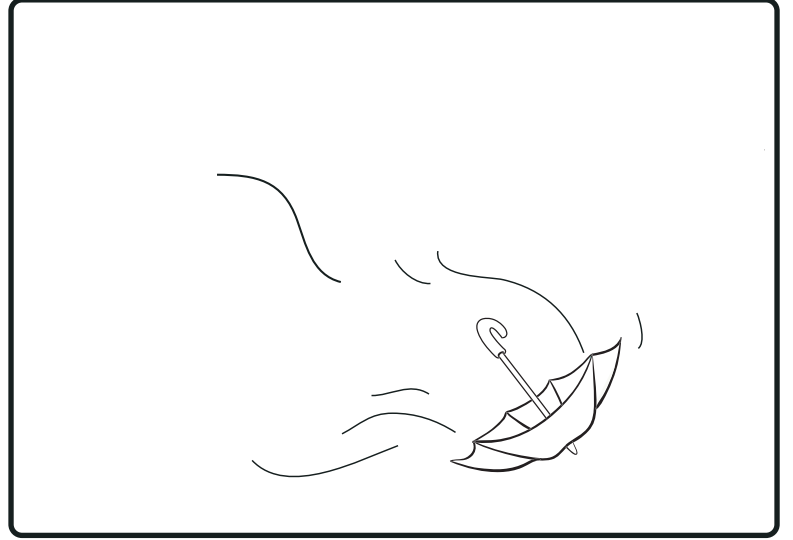

The wind stopped and the umbrella flew down, making no sound.

2

A strong wind blew the umbrella away.

5 And up, up, and up the umbrella went, high up in the air.

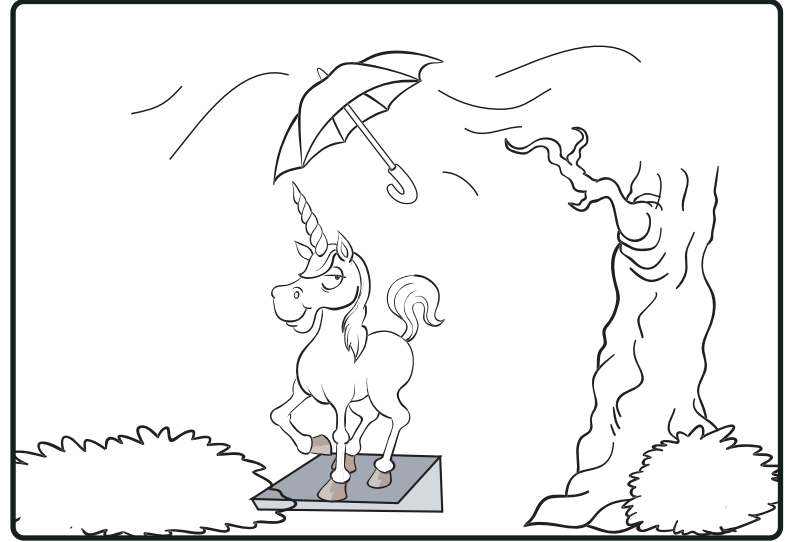

3

Up, up, and up the umbrella went, high up in the air.

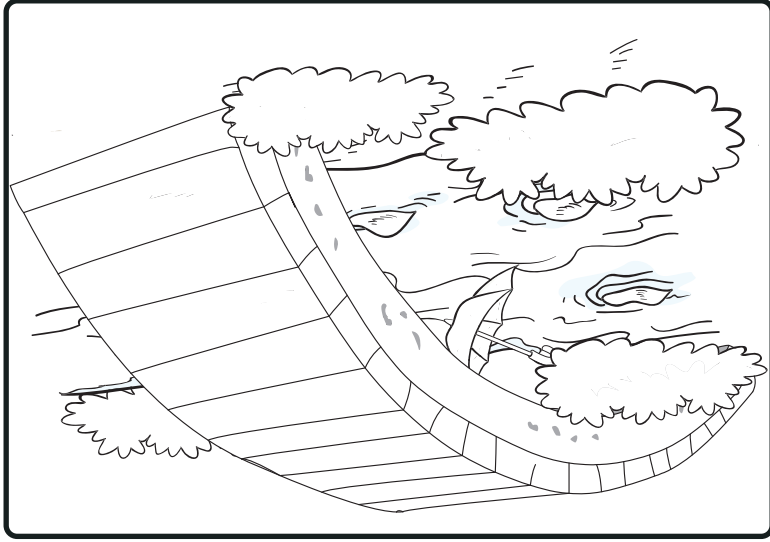

The umbrella flew over a unicorn.

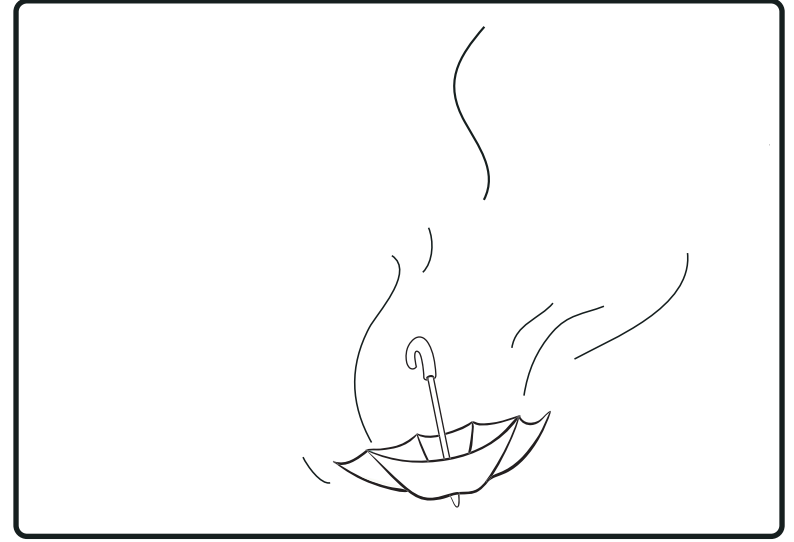

4

⑥

The umbrella flew under a bridge.

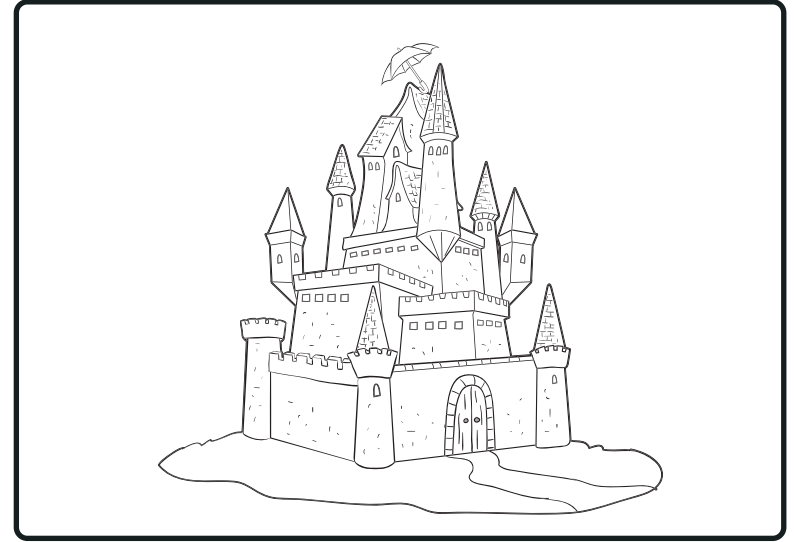

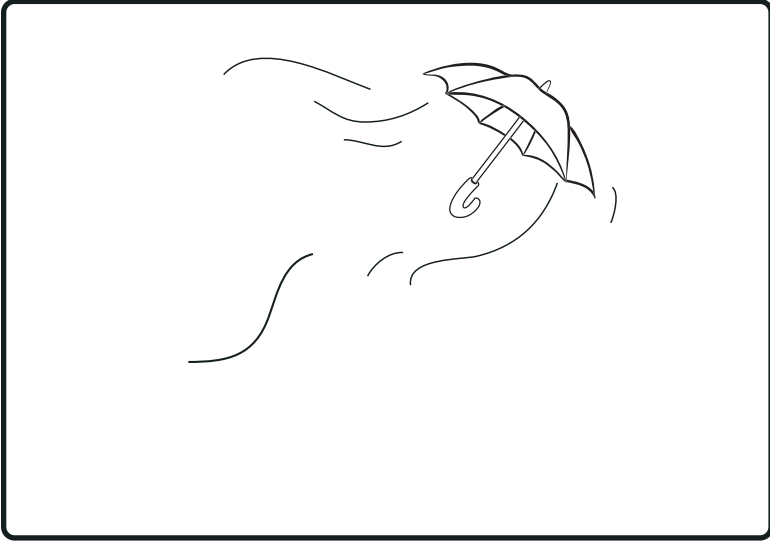

⑦ And up, up, and up the umbrella went, high up in the air.

⑦

And up, up, and up the umbrella went, high up in the air.

The umbrella flew up to the top of a castle.

⑧